City's Future Dependent On Action at Polls Today

Today is election day. On the verdict of the people at the polls today rests the future of Richmond. The harbor is at stake. Don't forget that! Funds are needed and badly needed to enable us to go forward to completion with the unfinished job.

UNCLE SAM TO COOPERATE

Congressman Curry has told us in the plainest sort of language that if we are to have Uncle Sam take over the task of deepening and widening our harbor and then maintaining it, we will have to arm him with the funds to pay our part.

If we withhold from Congress the money that is required and demanded, then we shall lose our place in the Sun and sit back and watch other ports outstrip us and see our shipping business go elsewhere.

PORTS BID FOR INDUSTRIES

Pacific ports from Puget Sound to San Diego Bay are bidding and bidding strong for factories and for great steamship lines.

We've got to furnish water and proper berthing facilities for ships, and suitable warehouses to handle the cargoes that we expect to move in and out.

TAX INCREASE BUGABOO

Do not become frightened at the threat of suggestion of increased taxes.

How much will your taxes increase on a forty year bond issue that is to be paid off at the rate of $17,500 a year?

And when you figure any possible increase, don't overlook the increase in the taxable values in the great industries we will have here, and which added to our local wealth will offset any per capita increase.

REVENUES OFFSET TAXES

If ten million dollars shall be added in five years to the taxable wealth of Richmond, the revenues the people will be in volume will offset any possible increase in taxes.

That's a fact easily understood.

The thing we must do today is to make the majority in favor of the bonds so decisive that the outside world will sense that the sentiment of the people is for more and better and bigger pay rolls; for progress and for prosperity.

AND YOU, MR. AND MRS. VOTER, HAVE NO PEACE OF MIND OR BODY UNTIL YOU HAVE VOTED.

AND SEE THAT YOUR FRIENDS UNTIL YOU HAVE VOTED.

The task is yours.

The task is ours.

ALL TOGETHER.

LET'S FINISH THE JOB.

Eleven Reasons For Voting Of Harbor Bonds Are Advanced

Economic Necessity Of Harbor Bond Issue
Told By Voter

- Eleven reasons for the economic necessity of the Harbor Bonds have been advanced by Rev. W. P. Grant, pastor of the First Methodist church, who has been active in the election campaign. His reasons for carrying the bonds follow:
1. It would create work for the unemployed.
 2. It would bring in new industries and create more work.
 3. It would greatly facilitate the growth of the city.
 4. It would make us partners with Mr. Ford the most successful business man of America.
 5. It would keep faith with him and Mr. Parr who is responsible for his locating among us.
 6. It enables us to cooperate with the chamber of commerce, a credit to our city.
 7. It endorses the city council always looking out for the main chance to add Richmond growth.

European Conditions Told Richmond Clubby W. T. Helms

Members of Richmond club were addressed yesterday afternoon by W. T. Helms, who gave them interesting data on his recent trip to Ostend. Starting from New York, the members followed a word-picture tour of the many countries, with their beautiful cities and places of interest, visited by Mr. Helms, when he accompanied the Rotary delegation from the United States. Besides describing famous buildings, and many fascinating side trips, he touched on the educational, political and financial conditions of the various countries, in comparison; and outlined some of the details of the Rotary international session. He pictured the beauties of Switzerland, but added that our own country provides just such wonders for the tourist in natural scenery. The speaker told of travel conveniences and inconveniences of Italy, where police and soldiers guard the trains, and where a passenger may be arrested and fined for putting his feet on his neighbor's cushions. Plans are being made for an informal invitational dance early in September, as well as a card party later in the month. Several announcements were made yesterday afternoon by section chairmen. Key Employees Reject Plans To Cut Wages 5 Cents Hour

Company Claims Straits Are "Desperate And Critical"

A proposal of the Key System Transit company that its platform employees reduce their wages five cents an hour has been rejected and the uniformed operators will stand by their agreement of two years ago with the company.

MASS MEETING HELD

This was revealed following a meeting at the Municipal auditorium at which the executive committee presented the "suggestion" of the company to the men after debating upon the merit of the request for ten days.

"IN DESPERATE STRAITS"

It was announced that the company requires the reduction in wage because its financial condition is "desperate and critical" and that the need for economy on the part of the employees will remain for a year only. The alternative proposition that the employees keep their present wage and accept changes of hours that would result in the same reduction (Continued on Page 8)

Local Youth To Prepare For The Ministry

Carl Roberts of the Community Methodist church left Richmond last night for the South Methodist University in Dallas, Texas, where he will spend seven years preparing for the ministry. Roberts is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Roberts of San Pablo, and is a charter member of the Community Methodist church. His father, W. C. Roberts, is the superintendent of the Sunday school of the church.

Roberts has been active in church work. He is president of the Epworth League, and has taught classes in the church. He has shown his ability in church work, taking charge during the absence of Rev. M. H. Greenlee a month ago.

He graduated early from high school and worked his way to a responsible position with the Standard Oil company where he has been employed for the last 18 months. He plans to work his way through the college at Dallas.

A party of friends and relatives bade him good-bye at the Santa Fe station.

Merchants Assn. To Back Bonds

The Richmond Merchants' association, backing the harbor bonds, will be active in the election campaign today. Members of the association are donating their cars to bring out the vote.

Individual merchants will encourage their employees to vote in an effort to secure the passage of the bonds with as large a majority as possible. These will be as operator on the line all day at the association headquarters to call the various precincts, according to Marie MacDonald Jensen, secretary, who returned from a shortened vacation yesterday to aid in the campaign.

AMERICA AND JAPAN

While there was criticism at first from some sources over the United States government's unwillingness to employ force against the Chinese at Hankow, it is now conceded in diplomatic circles that the government's policy prevented war. Japan stood as a valiant ally of America in the Chinese policy the Washington government has pursued and this support has been a powerful factor in its success.

The American policy, staunchly supported by the Japanese government, is working out satisfactorily. There is now no responsible representative government in China with which the powers can deal, but if and when the time does come that there is one the American government and other powers can be ready to treat with it and negotiate treaties that will satisfactorily iron out present disputes.

America is entirely willing to give China an opportunity to get on its feet. By adhering to its present policy it is doing just that and doing it in a peaceful, friendly manner.—Dubuque Telegraph-Herald.

Vigorous Health

BY PAUL J. VEATCH, D.P., S. T.

Kindly advise if it is possible to cure chronic appendicitis without an operation and how. S. F. J.

It is possible in the great majority of cases. Even if an operation is performed it will not remove the cause of the trouble and something else will develop. So natural methods must be used anyhow. The usual treatment includes a fast for up to a week with daily enema, followed by either the milk and fruit diet or a largely raw food diet of fruits, vegetables and buttermilk with some whole grain products. Deep breathing is practiced regularly and after pain is relieved special attention is given to abdominal and back exercises taken in a reclining position. Alternate hot and cold abdominal compresses are also used.

I have diabetes and have been forbidden to eat starch or sugar. It seems that most of the things I eat contain these elements. What foods can I use, and is saccharin all right? Z. COHEN.

One reason for your diabetes is the overconsumption of starch and sugar, but these foods need not be entirely eliminated except for short periods if they are used in their unrefined forms. It is not well to employ saccharin. The usual plan of treatment by natural methods is to fast or at least take an orange diet until the urine is sugar free, then the skim milk diet. If the latter is not used, a start is made with acid fruits and green vegetables, adding proteins such as nuts, cottage cheese and eggs next, then fats such as butter and cream, and finally light, starchy vegetables, whole wheat toast and sweet fruits.

YOUR BIRTHDAY

This is the birthday of Edward Johnson, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera company. The success achieved by this popular artist is shown clearly in his home, for the stars were certain in his favor when he was born. Beautiful Venus, goddess of art and of song, was happily basking in the rays of the Sun in Leo and was on terms of complete understanding with the Moon, so that the two great luminaries were in perfect accord in granting Edward Johnson the gift of song.

Jupiter, who attends to financial rather than artistic success, was in Cancer, the sign in which he is exalted, and was on good terms with Neptune and Uranus. He was able, therefore, to promise Mr. Johnson unusual success, reputation and distinction. Mercury, merging his rays with those of Uranus, points out the humor of life, and being on good terms with Neptune, denotes dramatic and emotional power.

But, perhaps the greatest gift of all was that of good health and a cheerful, enthusiastic and generous spirit—shown by the Moon in Aries and the Sun with Venus in Leo. With such stars, Mr. Johnson may look forward with confidence to continued success.

The Sun is now nearing the end of the kingly Leo and is about to pass into Virgo. As a parting gift to the children of Leo, he endows them with enterprise, courage and steadfastness. These qualities they may need during the next few months, for Neptune, strangest of all the planets, is interesting himself rather too much in their affairs just now.

Those born between August 20 and 24 may soon feel the tantalizing effect of his proximity to the Sun. If any of them feel strangely restless, uncertain and anxious, they will know that Neptune is dogging their footsteps, but if they keep themselves in a positive frame of mind, they will be able to overcome the insidious attacks of this ancient planet.

What Your FACE TELLS

Oct. 1927- by Betty Morrison PSYD.

WHY EVERYONE LOVES A FAT MAN!

Every loves the fat man. Fat men have a way about them that other folk do not have. When we deal with the fat man we always linger just a little longer, for he puts us so at ease. This is the Motive-Vital type.

This individual will possess characteristics similar to both the motive type man and the vital type. This is the planner, the fellow who gets things done the quickest, easiest way, and at the same time always gets the most for the least amount of pay.

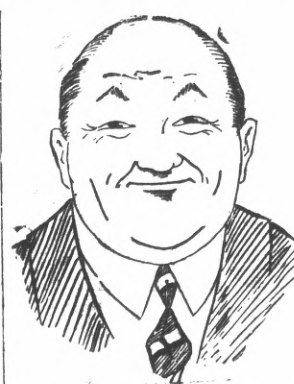

"Let George do it," is one of the first laws of his life. This is the financial man, the natural "money-getter."

He is a good mixer, mischievous, and full of funny stories. This is our business man. He can sell more goods over the telephone than most folk can showing their stock.

If you are this type guard against your instinctive desires or you will become too stout. If you eat just as much as you like at a meal, you are sure to eat too much. It is the natural desire for this type to crave rich foods, for the nutritive and digestive systems predominate.

NEGLECTS EXERCISE

The motive vital type is apt to neglect his exercise. He is naturally heavy on his feet, so he enjoys sitting down at his work. He becomes so interested in his schemes to make money that he forgets his daily walk. He should get a pair of Indian clubs and use them—pass up the automobile and street cars and use the side-walks and country lanes more. Rolling on the floor, bending and stretching are also good to keep down weight. He should endeavor to work up a perspiration daily.

This type resents any one's attempting to "boss" him. He is the managerial type and is thoroughly able to handle his own affairs.

The motive-vital type men make good bankers, real estate men and brokers. They also enjoy acting as arbitrator or judge and aspire to be a "city dad." They are not usually good public speakers. The motive-vital type is not interested in study or mental tests. He should cultivate a desire to study more.

Don't Bury Beauty Under A Pall Of Paint And Rouge

By LADY BEATRICE GREY

"O, wad some power the giftie gie us
To see oursel's as others see us."

Of course I'm not sure, but I believe if Bobby Burns lived today he would rechristen at least one of his celebrated poems and call it "An Ode to the Misuse of Make-Up."

And these lines would be directed especially to the girl who really has natural attractions and who, instead of playing up to them, tries to improve on nature to such an extent that she makes herself appear freakish and artificial.

Most girls start out with an average assortment of good looks. True, few are knockouts to begin with—but there are even fewer without at least one redeeming feature to play up to.

For instance, there is the girl whose chief attraction is a wide, generous mouth—a mouth expressive of personality, charm and goodness of heart. Does she let it stay "as is"? Or does she disguise it with an impossible little cupid's bow entirely out of place with the rest of her features?

Then, there's the girl who covers her delicate olive skin with gobs of powder. She "white-washes" her face, neck and arms, spreads a thick layer of mascara around her soulful eyes—and starts out looking more like Hamlet's ghost than a human being.

There are girls who actually seem to prefer the obviously artificial roses that come from the rouge pot to the natural color that is the result of good health. In the same class is the girl with the beautifully arched eyebrows—brows that give to her face a patrician charm. She tweezes them down to a scant meaningless line, destroying half her piquant

Daddy was painting our machine (a Buick). He had it jacked up. The wind was rising and little Herbert overheard us say we hoped it wouldn't blow the machine over. That night, after he had said his prayers, he earnestly added:

When a Man Loves

By ALLIE LOWE MILES

Copyright 1927, Warner Bros. Pictures, Inc. John Barrymore in "WHEN A MAN LOVES" is a Warner Bros. Picture.

Synopsis: Fabien, a young and handsome youth of France, trains for the priesthood; but meets and loves Manon Lescaut, beautiful orphan, who is coveted by hideous Count Ravoire. Fabien saves her and carries her off to Paris. Circumstances force her to surrender to Ravoire. She rejoins Fabien, and they live so extravagantly that Fabien is forced to capitulate a genius for cards. The King plays Fabien for his money. Manon accuses him of cheating. Fabien is sent to be deported. Fabien kills Ravoire, and follows the prison caravan to Havre.

Fabien had rushed up to Manon and put his arms about her protectingly. They felt lost and out of place. All the elken glory of magnificent clothes and priceless jewels that had been theirs the night before at the Duc de Richelieu's salon had been literally stripped from them, leaving only two very tragic young people who had lost everything except their love for each other. They did not even own the clothes they wore—Fabien's suit was borrowed from Tiberge and Manon's dress was a uniform from the Magdalen.

Passion and loyalty had been the indirect cause of all their misfortunes, yet happily enough it was the only thing that survived every ordeal. Money, that had once seemed so vital to their happiness, now meant nothing. There was not a single coin between them, nor did it matter. In the excitement and stress of the moment Fabien had left his money on the card table at the

After the men had been securely locked away the Governor gave instructions for the women to be brought aboard. They were a pitiful sight, but the guards had neither mercy nor compassion for the unfortunate girls or their families and roughly brought the farewells to an abrupt end. Manon clung so tightly to Fabien that he was pushed along with her up to the gang plank before the guards realized what they had done.

"Clear out of here!" ordered the most burly fellow, addressing Fabien.

"There is time," he stilled, addressing to Manon go. "Yes, and this is it." The guard grabbed Manon roughly by the arm and pulling her away said: "Now, nothing's holding you—go."

Fabien's face turned a ghastly white, he set upon the guard with clenched fists, but was pushed aside and immediately followed by two other uniformed men whose duty it was to preserve order.

Sobbing piteously, Manon was pushed away from her lover. Their dreams of happiness were again shattered.

Synnelet, still watching Manon from the deck, called to his uncle, "That's the one for me, all right. She appears to be a faithful little soul." He was generous enough to admire traits in others that were foreign to his own nature.

"You shall have your choice, my boy." The Governor gave his nephew a fond smile.

Synnelet noticed that Manon was in a state of collapse as she and the other women were pulled and pushed across the gang plank. It did not suit his plans for her to be too badly treated and he hastened to speak with the guard in charge.

"Be gentle with this girl and see that she is not hurt," he requested. The guard winked knowingly, but paid no attention to the suggestion.

Not for a moment had Fabien taken his eyes from Manon since she was torn from his arms and he made prisoner by the guards. He saw Synnelet, apparently a privileged character, speak in her behalf and it nearly drove him insane. He thought—she is being taken away from me again, I am powerless to follow and even before the ship pulls anchor another man is waiting to annoy her!

As if in a dream Fabien saw the sailors scurrying about on deck preparing to get underway. The Captain was shouting commands. The crowd of sad friends and relatives gathered about the wharf—head waving a last farewell to their loved ones as the girls and women leaned over the railing, looking back with regret and longing. They stood quite close together in a long line, because they were still bound together by the cumbersome iron chain.

Synnelet was directly behind Manon appraising her with a satisfied smile! The ship's anchor was weighed. The hulk moved slowly away from the wharf. Manon was being taken away! ! ! !

Fabien wanted to curse. His mind was in a mad whirl. He seemed to hear Manon calling, calling to him for help, and he felt so small and helpless as he just stood there watching her move away from him.

Suddenly the sound of galloping horses penetrated his consciousness and their arrival caused a great commotion at the land end of the wharf. On recognizing the King's guard and men from the Magdalen Prison, Fabien's captors sensed something unusual and eager to be in the midst of the excitement, they released their charge and ran back to find out what had brought these men to Havre.

After sizing the women up for some time the gaze of both men returned to Manon. "At last they have sent us a woman worth looking at!" exclaimed Synnelet with a whistle of delight. "I see the one you mean—but do you notice that her affection is already bestowed upon a young man?" The Governor saw Fabien holding Manon in his arms.

"What difference does that make? He will be left here, I shall take his place and she will be more interesting for the experience."

AND THE WORST IS YET TO COME

"LONG PANTS" ON THE SCREEN AT CALIFORNIA

They crowned a new king of comedy at the California theater last night when a packed house, rocking for an hour of hilarious laughter, voiced "Long Pants," the funniest film of all time and Harry Langdon, its wiseful, moon-faced little star, the greatest genius the motion picture has produced.

Painting a realistic portrait of a lovable adolescent, that every man and woman past twenty recognized in their life, and every kid sympathized with, Langdon presented one of the most startling innovations comedy has ever known.

First there was an appealing love sequence, done in technicals, a distinct departure in the comedy field, where the moon-struck youth dreamed of passionate conquests as a Rollo-like Romeo. Then there were daring bits of melodrama, daring for comedy that, without the constant convulsions the clown inspired, might well have been scenes from an "American tragedy."

And last, and most remarkable of all, was Langdon's ever new method of reserve and subtlety which have accounted for his sensational rise in the last two years to the throne of comic king of them all.

The California will do well to hold this over an extra week. The whole town will be talking about it in another day, and the whole town wanting to see it!

Other features include the sixth chapter of "Melting Millions," "Topics of the Day," and "Aesop's Fables."

CHAPLIN GIVES LITA $825,000, DIVORCE GRANT

(By Universal Service)
LOS ANGELES, August 22.—Lita Grey Chaplin was awarded a divorce from Charles Spencer Chaplin, the film comedian, by Judge Walter Guerin today.

A property settlement of $825,000 for Mrs. Chaplin and the two minor children, who custody she was given, was announced by attorneys.

NO CONTEST

The comedian made no contest and was not present in court. It was reported he was in seclusion in the vicinity, ready to appear should his attorneys desire his presence.

The following statement, signed by attorneys on both sides, was given out:

"An agreement has been made between Mr. and Mrs. Chaplin setting all property rights between them. Mrs. Chaplin is to be paid $825,000.

"This fully meets the requirements of the California laws, which in substance provide that a wife is entitled to one-half of the property acquired and money earned by the husband subsequent to the marriage.

"A trust fund of $200,000 is to be created for the two children, the income of which is to be paid to Mrs. Chaplin, as their legal guardian for their support, maintenance and education. The principal of the trust is to go to the children when the younger reaches the age of thirty-five years."

The children are Charles Spencer Chaplin, Jr., a little over two years old, and Sidney Earle Chaplin, about eighteen months.

The divorce proceedings were of a perfunctory nature and were disposed of in a little more than an hour.

Mrs. Chaplin sat between her mother, Mrs. Lillian Spicer, and Jeanne Bernard, a school girl friend and one of her witnesses. Mrs. Chaplin wore a black hat and black dress, relieved by a string of pearls and a white fur.

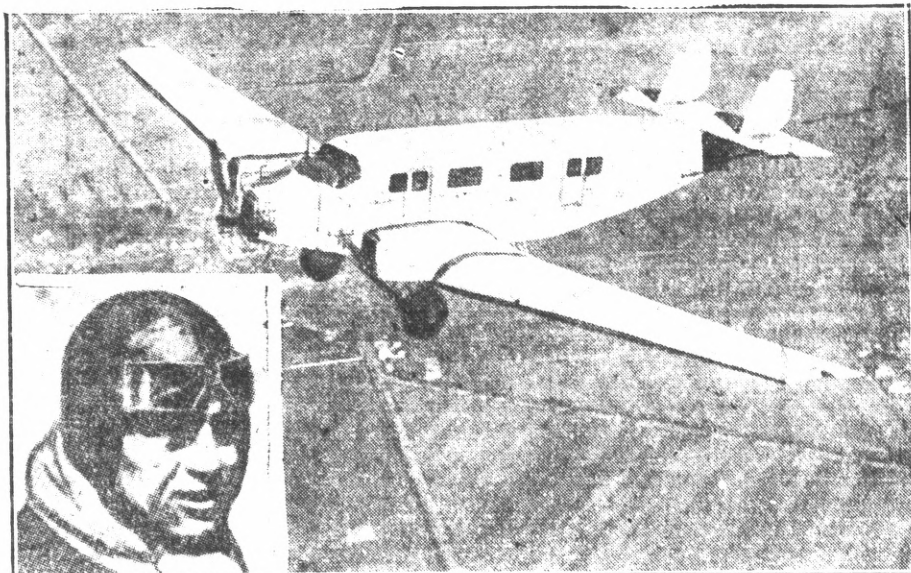

LITA AT EASE

She appeared at ease and faced nonchalantly an imposing battery of cameras when her uncle and chief attorney, Edwin T. McMeary, called her to the stand.

in which he protested his innocence. He was cool and collected. As he entered the death chamber he shook hands with his guards. Then he sat down in the chair without any instructions and said: "I wish to tell you I am innocent and never committed a crime, but sometimes a sin. I thank you for everything you have done for me. I am innocent of all crime—not only of this one, but of all crimes. I am an innocent man."

FORGIVES ENEMIES

Here he paused. The straps were being applied. Then he added: "I wish to forgive some people for what they are now doing to me."

"This Vanzetti's last word," were those of forgiveness to those he had considered his enemies.

MADEIROS EXECUTED

Cesario Madeiros, who was also executed this morning, for another crime, preceded Sacco and Vanzetti to the chair.

He seemed to be in a stupor and said nothing.

All three were executed within the space of 25 minutes.

C. Of C. Directors To Meet Tomorrow

Directors of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce will meet tomorrow for the final August meeting. There are several important matters to come before the board.

REALIZE DOOM

No one this afternoon realized better than Sacco and Vanzetti themselves that the only way out of their cells led down a short corridor to the death chair.

They were still stoned as they had been yesterday when every effort that was made to save them ended in failure.

They were visited twice today by Sacco's wife, Rose, and Vanzetti's sister, who came two days ago from Italy to bring him the love of his family and to pray for his soul.

The first visit was during the morning hours. The second was this afternoon. That was the last time they were permitted to see their loved ones and the significance of the awful visit was strongly realized by all four.

Mrs. Sacco clung to her husband and Vanzetti to his sister's hand through the iron bars while they exchanged their last kisses.

Warden William Hendry and the silent guards alone witnessed the pathetic scene.

DON 'CHAI' CLOTHES

The two doomed men and Celestino Madeiros, who by a strange twist of fate has been living for months on their reprieves, donned their execution clothes during the afternoon.

After that they were visited by Father Michael J. Murphy, Catholic chaplain of the state prison. All three refused to heed his plea.

"They said they preferred to die as they lived—outside the pale," the chaplain later reported. "I urged them to prepare themselves for eternity, to receive the sacraments and to meet death fortified by the rites of the church, but each refused."

The chaplain told them they could change their minds any time up to the time of the execution and he held himself in readiness during the rest of the day to minister to them if they sent for him.

Sacco and Vanzetti received their first disappointment of the day at an early hour when Chief Justice Taft of the United States Supreme court wired from Canada that the case was outside his jurisdiction. He had been appealed to by wire to come to the border and grant a stay of execution.

SUPREME COURT HOPE

A few hours later came the word that Justice Harlan Stone, of the United States Supreme Court, had denied a similar petition for a stay of execution. He had been appealed to by Arthur D. Hill, Chief of the defense counsel at the Summer Home of the Justice on the Isle Au Haut twenty miles off the coast of Maine. Hill and his associates had made a wild all-night motor and boat dash from Boston, and reached him this morning.

SUPREME COURT DENIES

A third hope went glimmering when Judge Sisk of the Superior Court declined to stay the execution. He had been appealed to last Friday and reserved decision. After that there was no one left except Governor Fuller.

One hundred and sixty men and girls had been arrested in Sacco-Vanzetti demonstrations up to seven o'clock. They were locked up in thirteen cells. The biggest crowd the old Joy Street Police Station had seen for years.

The prisoners sang and cheered in their cells for hours. Joy Street rang true to its name. They can all boast now about the time they were pinched in Boston. Most of them were itching to be arrested, they said.

By six o'clock tonight the warden had all his plans in effect. More than seven hundred men were thrown around the state anything we could cling to for hope. This was the thought of these birds as the curtain was drawn on another day, the sixth since the first five took away from Oakland airport and the third since went in search.

Theories gave way to blunt statements as arguments melted into thin landscape. "What's the use of talking?" "They are gone, there is no hope" and similar answers were given to only one burning question.

PRIZES BLAMED

With ten thought to be dead and airplanes wrecked in the Dole race, there were those tonight gathered around dinner tables who questioned the 2,000 mile aerial derby. "If the prizes had never been offered, there would have been no deaths," it was agreed. And yet, on behalf of James D. Dole, it was pointed out, there would be no future for aviation and no hope for further development. And the same persons argued that no invention of time has been made without the sacrifice of lives.

HOPE SPURRED

Remembering the Commander John Rodgers flight of two years ago, there were those who stood bravely out pointing to his nine days at sea and his final rescue with his crew of five.

And hope was stirred anew when the navy began with its words: "The navy never quits" and the further announcement that the ships of the United States navy would keep on going until Thursday "and longer if necessary."

KEEP UP SEARCH

Previously it has been announced that the search would be discontinued Tuesday. From Honolulu came the word that William F. Molloska had equipped a speedy sampan for a thorough search of Honolulu waters. Molloska was the backer of the "Miss Doran" flight and later staked a prize of $10,000 for any information concerning the whereabouts of the plane. The sampan, equipped by Molloska, carries a crew of seven and radio, both sending and receiving.

$10,000 OFFERED

The deep blue Pacific which rolled its waves on sand beaches as usual tonight, refused to give up any information as to what might have happened to the lost aviators.

And there was $10,000 awaiting anyone who could give the slightest information. This was divided among James D. Dole, Molloska and The San Francisco Examiner.

Sympathizers of Vanzetti and Sacco plan for Crockett meet

Mass meeting of Sacco-Vanzetti sympathizers, originally scheduled for Sunday evening in Valoma, was postponed until tonight while a squad of deputy sheriffs anxiously awaited a call from Crockett to break up the meeting and disperse those who might attempt to voice a protest and participate in a demonstration in behalf of the two "reds" doomed to die immediately after midnight last night for the unprovoked murder of a Boston factory paymaster and his guard. Call for the meeting had been sent out and circulars printed in the Italian language but plans were later changed and the meeting set for Tuesday night. Crockett authorities and Martinez officers are at a loss to understand the purpose of the meeting tonight, for the doomed pair, both of whom were dead a few minutes after midnight last night.

This Company holds a unique position.

We own and operate enormous Rubber Plantations. One of them is the largest producing rubber plantation in the world.

We invented and control the process of making Sprayed Rubber—which is the purest and most uniform rubber known.

We invented and control Web Cord—the process for putting plenty of rubber between and around the cords of a tire.

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

Question: What difference does it make to me that the United States Rubber Company grows and controls its own supply of rubber?
Answer: It makes a lot of difference to you. Good tires must start with plenty of the right kind of rubber. The right kind of rubber starts with the right kind of rubber trees. Among other methods for producing plenty of superior rubber latex, bud-grafting—to make better trees—has been practiced on the United States Rubber plantations for ten years. If you ride on U. S. Royals you get the benefit. If you do not ride on U. S. Royals you are missing something extra good. Either way, it makes a lot of difference to you.

Zanetta Cigars Defeat Menitt Athletic Club In Two Games

Bill Maloney's classy school-boy baseball club defeated the Japanese Menitt Athletic club of Oakland at Oakland 16-0, and showed further evidence of the work of its players. Doyle Taylor, crack little southpaw, struck out 14 men and pitched a no-hit, no-run game. Not satisfied with that he gloomed three hits, one of them a home run. He was cheated out of another circuit when the ball hit a handball court and bounced back. Outside of this, the whole team got behind the old hickory, or what have you, and clouted the apple for enough to satisfy a big league team. Star batters were Taylor, Viano, Prolio and Chambers. San Miguel caught a fine game behind the bat. The Zanettas won the second game when the San Pablo Markets failed to appear at Dushrod playgrounds. They lowned the Menitt team 9-0. The score: Zanetta Cigars 16 14 2 Menitt Athletic Club 0 0 7 Batteries: Zanetta Cigars—Taylor and San Miguel; Menitt Athletic Club—Mizusaki, Kimurka and Nabord.

TRAINING TIPS FOR TORONTO

Not all of the entries in the Wrigley swim scheduled for Toronto, August 31, are able to afford a trainer. Fellows like Keating, the Lake George winner, and George Young, the Catalina champion, carry a professional trainer.

They're the big shots of the deep blue sea.

Recently a youngster named Cohen came to me for advice on his training.

A steady siege of swimming had forced his weight down to 162 pounds. He was afraid that he would go stale before the date of the big race.

I am wondering if some of the other entries in the twenty-one mile Toronto race are faced with the same problem.

It so takes this tip handed on to me by the man who trained Gertrude Ederle.

"With the race only two weeks away," this veteran swimming authority says "active training should be at an end now."

"Every entrant in the Toronto swim should devote the last two weeks to building up his or her strength. They should cut their daily swims to 100 or 200 yards, just enough to keep the muscles limber. Long swims are taboo. Don't stay in the water for more than half an hour a day."

"Build up your weight through a vegetable and milk diet. Put on as much weight as you can without getting loggy. The fatty layer will serve to counteract the chill of the water."

"The main idea is to enter the race on August 31 with as much stamina as you can muster. There is no point to be served in further long swims. Swim just enough to keep loose. Cut down the long swims and eat heartily of vegetables and drink plenty of milk."

THREATEN KEATING AND YOUNG

As the date of the Wrigley swim nears I confess I'm getting as steamed up over it as any of the swimmers who will answer the starter's signal.

I have only seen one of these Marathon swims. That was at Lake George. It made me a nut on the spot.

Eddie Keating an east side youngster, won at Lake George. He finished the twenty-six mile grind just at daybreak, and thousands of vacationers and residents of that town were at the dock to greet him when he pulled his greased body from the water.

Keating, a former life saver, showed a lot of class in that victory. He won the race at the ten-mile mark when he pulled up even with Vierkotter, the German, who had crossed the Channel, and then outspurred Vierkotter in a mile dash.

From that point on it was a sleigh ride for the east side lad. He will have tougher sledding at Toronto, for the field will be eyeing him. At Lake George he was an unknown. That helped.

At Toronto Keating will meet stern competition from George Young, the Catalina crosier; Vierkotter, Clarence Ross and Meyer Mendelsohn, a Toronto Jewish lad, who has shown more stuff than any swimmer in the field.

It is not improbable that while this quintet—Keating and Young with Vierkotter, Ross and Mendelsohn—are staging their own private aquatic feud a dark horse will step out and grab the honors.

In long-distance swimming, as in golf, it is better to be an unknown. They don't pay so much attention to you.

HEART TROUBLE
Marvelously Relieved

While visiting her daughter here in Oakland, Mrs. W. H. Morton of Stockton was in such great trouble that it affected her leg and hand. She could neither walk nor rest with the slightest effort. All the physicians whom she consulted expressed the opinion that she had not more than ten days to live. She truly seemed to be at the point of death when she took her first package of the Fong Wan Herbs. It was cooked for her at home, and that night she had the first rest after many weeks of terrible suffering. After four weeks of the Fong Wan Herb Treatment, she was able to return to her home in Stockton. From that city she has sent the following testimonial to the Fong Wan Herb Co.

OWES HER LIFE TO FONG WAN HERBS
Stockton, Cal., March 21, 1927.
To the Fong Wan Herb Co. I have been a sufferer with valvular trouble of the heart for some time. I became so ill that my doctors, who were many, gave me but a week or ten days to live.

I decided to try the Fong Wan Herb Co., and to the amazement of all who know me, I was able to walk into their office after taking the Herbs one week. I have now taken them four weeks and I not only have a good heart, but have also been helped in other ailments.

I cannot speak too highly of the Fong Wan Herbs, as I owe my life to them. I am very grateful to Fong Wan for his kindness.

CITY BOUNDARY WILL BE FIXED IN EL CERRITO

City Attorney W. S. Pierce informed the council of El Cerrito Monday that he would hold a conference with the city attorney of Albany sometime this week to determine what action will be taken to fix the correct boundary line between the two cities.

On the recommendation of councilman Chas. Zimmerman the board instructed fire chief W. A. Hinds to have the telephone and signal apparatus encased and to purchase two gas masks.

The assessment diagram on the improvement of Alhambra St. between Stockton and Eureka was approved by the council and city engineer Ross J. Caffee gave notice of the filing of the assessment.

City Police Judge reported fines for violation of the motor act during July totaling $1063.

Advantages Of City Show In C. C. Book

The advantages of Richmond to the American manufacturer, seeking a Pacific Coast location for his plant where he will command the Western and Pacific market by reason of lower freight rates, where he can manufacture more economically and more efficiently, are definitely set forth in the reprint of the Richmond Chamber of Commerce booklet "RICHMOND On San Francisco Bay" just off the press.

Four pages have been added to this attractive brochure devoted exclusively to driving home the essential facts concerning Richmond as the ideal location for industry.

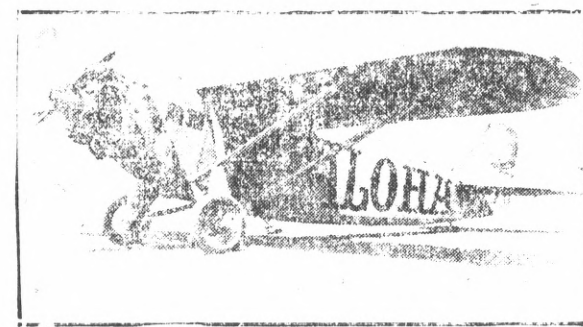

Nearly 10,000 copies of the reprint with four additional pages were ordered and of this number some 8,000 were supplied large real estate operators and business concerns who wished to present the authentic story of Richmond to their clients.

Key Employees Reject Plans To Cut Wages

was also voted down by the operators.

HARDSHIP CLAIMED

According to the Key System official statement to the men, the wage increase of 1925 worked hardship on the company because of the sliding scale depending on length of service. The original increase in payroll amounted to $450,000 and this has grown to $600,000 in the intervening period.

The union officials say that the proposed wage reductions would operate in the various classes as follows:

AFFECTS THREE CLASSES

One-man car operators, first three months, present pay 50 cents an hour, reduced to 45 cents.

Three months to one year, present pay 56 cents an hour, reduced to 51 cents.

After one year, present pay 68 cents an hour, reduced to 63 cents.

The Key System is now requesting the state railroad commission for alterations in its rate system that will increase the casual fare on the cars from seven to ten cents per ride and on the ferries from 21 to 25 cents.

PASS SYSTEM URGED

This appeal for financial relief is accompanied by a plan, now being considered by State Railroad Commissioner Clyde Seavey, whereby reductions in fare would be accomplished by a transferable pass system calling for unlimited rides by week or month for a flat rate.

In submitting the request for rate changes the officials of the company asserted that fewer persons were using the street cars but more are crossing the bay and that there was a decline of $22,197.49 in the company's revenue in the month of July as compared with July, 1926.

REDUCTION SHOWN

The statistics submitted showed a reduction in street car passengers in July this year compared with last year of 464,953, while ferry passengers increased 10,260 in the same period. The current July operating revenue was given as $600,777.70, as compared with $622,197.19 the previous year, with the loss in street car revenue at $23,000 while the increase in ferry transportation was $1000.

home to obtain insurance of $2,500.

The court's order of continuance was made after Hoey had mentioned that a barn on Bilkie's Sacramento county ranch was burned last March and that an insurance company built a new structure. Bilkie declared that the structure had burned while he was in Sacramento and said he did not know the cause of the fire.

Judge McKenzie demanded information of the fire and also asked to be supplied with a record of any loss that might be suffered by the insurance company or mortgage on Bilkie's burned El Cerrito property so that the court might be governed in framing terms should Bilkie be granted probation.

Bilkie confessed following his arrest that he fired the residence in early morning to secure funds to meet obligations and provide food for his wife and two children.

Probation Officer Boyer reported that Bilkie had a previous good record and favored probation. Hoey, opposing probation, declared the only mitigating circumstances were Bilkie's wife and children.

10. It would greatly increase taxable property in building manufacturing plants and new homes, thereby decreasing rather than increasing the tax rate.

11. By the enlarged harbor plan securing facilities for deep sea-going vessels, the burden of maintenance of the harbor estimated at from $40,000 to $50,000 annually would be carried by the government rather than the city. The saving alone would retire the bonds.

Fall Opening Of Shop Displays September 1

A feature of the fall opening event of the Richmond Merchants association will be the unveiling of the windows in the morning instead of in the evening as formerly.

This plan was decided upon by the board of directors and better business committee yesterday in the Hotel Carquinez. The windows will be unveiled at 10:30 on the morning of September 1. The displays will be continued two additional days. Individual stunts are being prepared by the merchants.

The style event has been scheduled to occur before the holidays so as to give everyone an opportunity to witness the displays.

Because of Labor Day, the first meeting of the Merchants association after the vacation period will be held on the following Monday, September 12. A special program is being prepared by the secretary, Mrs. Marie MacDonald.

Plans Laid For Public Opening Of Labor Temple

Plans for the public opening of Brotherhood hall after the alterations on the lower floor are completed, were made last night by a committee of the local carpenters. The local carpenters' union bought the hall a short time ago and set out to renovate it. Partitions for new clubrooms are now installed downstairs and part of the plastering is finished. A plate glass and panel front to the building is now being put in. The ceilings of the upstairs halls have already been calmsomed.

Squirrel Hunter Is Given Fine Of $10

V. B. Decario, of Oakland, was fined $10 when he appeared before Police Judge C. A. Odell, yesterday on a charge of discharging firearms within the city limits. Decario was arrested while hunting squirrels in the vicinity of Thirtieth street and Nevin avenue. He claimed that he was not aware of a city ordinance making it a misdemeanor to discharge firearms within the city limits.

"Betsy" Is Last To Leave Post To Leave Post At Big Span

CROCKETT, Aug. 22.—When the last of the workmen on the Carquinez bridge left the job, Betsy, mascot for the workers, quit her post, slept all day and took up her new job as first assistant to the night watchman. One by one Betsy has seen the bridge workers come and go. She has served them faithfully as a mascot, they claim, showing up for work every day, sunshine or rain, and never failing to be present when the bridge gangs opened their mid-noon lunches.

Today Betsy is the last of a great army of workmen who built the bridge. She has spent the last few days watching ruefully the dozen men who are busy with the last auxiliary piece of work in connection with the bridge, the adding of fenders for safety first purposes. She seems to sense that when these dozen are through she will be the last of the half thousand men who gave their skill for two years so that the motoring public might be served and that time might be saved in crossing Carquinez straits.
